North Vietnam: A government delegation led by Premier Pham Van Dong will visit Mongolia and North Korea in the near future. The trips are probably part of a series that Dong will make to thank Hanoi's allies for their support during the war and to solicit additional aid.

Israel: Prime Minister Meir announced yesterday that she will head the ruling Labor Party's ticket in the October general elections, reversing an earlier decision to step down. Mrs. Meir would again be prime minister in the event of a Labor Party victory.

Iran-US: On 16 June, Iranian police killed the man they claim planned the murder of a US military adviser on 2 June. According to the press, the assassin was a Communist guerrilla, but the US Embassy reports that he was probably a right-wing religious fanatic.
